NCode BUSINESS MODEL

Today's business scenario demands flexibility in many ways. One of the main thrust areas in the business relationship is adhering to a flexible business model for a web design firm in India that serves the needs of both the client as well as the web development company. We ideally believe in a systematic approach to pricing and therefore follow only the best strategy and policies. This helps us in being able to recommend only the right business model to the client. Inline with the client's unique needs, we recommend one of the following business models:

Fixed Price Approach

In many projects, the requirements are clearly defined at the onset of the project itself. In this case, the fixed price approach is the right model to go ahead with NCode Technologies, Inc. quotes a fixed price within which the project execution is carried out. There is a very low risk involved in the project, as we provide an assurance that the project will be completed within the budgeted limits and the time-frame specified by the client.

Time & Material Approach

In many cases, the client is not sure about the project specifications in the first place. In addition, it can be difficult to determine the scope and specifications of the project in the initial phase. In this case, the NCode Technologies, Inc. team suggests the time and material approach. In view of that, the client is charged according to the man hours that are utilized for the project.

Offshore Hire Approach

This method works best when the client is overseas or the project required is for a development centre abroad. This method suits best for customers who are looking at long-term benefits from offshore outsourcing. Under this method, we reserve our infrastructure and resources exclusively for the client.
